ClimateWest 2026 Forum

Action Now for a Resilient Tomorrow: Mainstreaming Climate Adaptation

The ClimateWest 2026 Forum will bring together a diverse mix of Indigenous and non-Indigenous organizations, individuals, communities, municipalities, businesses, and academics who share our goal of building a climate-resilient future. Now entering its fourth year, the ClimateWest Forum serves as a hub for the climate adaptation network across Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, providing opportunities to network and exchange knowledge on climate preparedness and adaptation action.

This year's Forum will consider the collective actions we can take today to build a resilient tomorrow, emphasizing cross-sector knowledge-sharing and collaboration. Our sessions will delve into how climate considerations can be integrated across different sectors, ensuring a holistic approach to building resilience.

The ClimateWest Forum is one of Canada's pre-eminent climate-related conferences, and I enjoyed it immensely. This conference is especially noteworthy within the Prairie Provinces, where the conversation on climate is distinctly different than elsewhere in Canada. The ClimateWest Forum is unique in that it brings a distinctly personal touch, making it stand out within the vast array of conferences available. There were captivating speakers, ample networking and considerable learning opportunities, and I would recommend it to anyone working within this space."

The ClimateWest Forum is a great opportunity to network as well as have meaningful conversations with stakeholders on climate adaptation issues in the Prairies. The event was well organized, well attended and informative. It is a good place to exchange information, keep updated on climate resilience trends, and to meet new business contacts in an informal and friendly setting.
